Mwaro: Gisozi elementary school celebrates its 75th birthday

The Vice-President of the Republic His Excellency Prosper Bazombanza joined on Sunday, November 15, 2020, with the population of Mwaro Province in the celebration of the jubilee of 75 years of existence of the fundamental school of Gisozi.

The primary school of Gisozi has been under a Catholic convention since its creation in 1945. Twelve Directors have headed this school and has already welcomed more than 5,405 students.

The current Headmistress of this school Mrs. Nihoreho Joselyne has requested material and financial support to ensure the proper functioning of the school. Among the challenges facing this school are the lack of drinking water, insufficient teaching staff and equipment.

Despite its 75 years of existence, the basic school of Gisozi does not go beyond the 6th basic year. The Vicar of the Archdiocese of Gitega and Parish Priest of Kibumbu Parish, Abbot Valentin Nsabimana called for the extension of this school up to the 9th year, to make it a complete fundamental cycle.

According to Mrs. Nihoreho Joselyne, the Fundamental School of Gisozi which already has an electric current, should have a branch of technical education, a complaint that she addressed to the Director of Education in Mwaro Province and to former students of this establishment.

When speaking, the Vice-President of the Republic, His Excellency Mr. Prosper Bazombanza, a native of the Province of Mwaro, asked the administrative authorities of the Gisozi Commune and the officials of the Regideso to look into the drinking water needs issue of this school, to find a solution. The fundamental school of Gisozi being under a Catholic convention, the Vice President asked the Archdiocese of Gitega via the ODAG (Organization for the Development of the Archdiocese of Gitega) to contribute to the supply of drinking water to this school. He also recalled that schools under Catholic convention are taken as a reference in education, an opportunity to ask the Archdiocese of Gitega to contribute to promote other aspects of education.

Regarding the extension of this school, the Vice-President of the Republic recommended to all stakeholders in education, to give priority to this issue in their planning. As a contribution, Prosper Bazombanza granted this school 325 sheets to ensure its extension and asked the Municipal Administration, the Department of Education in the Province of Mwaro and the population of Gisozi to do everything in their power to provide this school with new classrooms and organize studies up to the 9th grade.

The Vice-President of the Republic is satisfied with the step already made by the Fundamental School of Gisozi in particular and all the schools of the Provincial Directorate of Education of Mwaro given the results of the state exam 2020 edition.

In conclusion, the Vice-President of the Republic recalled that the Coronavirus pandemic is not over. And to ask the population of Mwaro to scrupulously observe the barrier measures decreed by the Government, so as not to give in to the spread of this disease.

ONATEL staff called for behavior change to achieve Government goals

sible, with regard to ONATEL staff. These include, among other things, the establishment of a commission to investigate the ultimate causes of the fall of ONATEL, stressing that accomplices will be punished in accordance with the law. It is also about sensitizing staff to work diligently in accordance with the

Under the high patronage of the Prime Minister of the Republic CPG Alain Guillaume Bunyoni, the Ministry of Communication, Information Technologies and Media organized on Thursday, November 19, 2020, in the forums of the Ministry in charge of Finance, a meeting with the staff of the National Telecommunications Office (ONATEL), in order to analyze together the report on the current situation of this state-owned enterprise and to formulate related recommendations.

CPG Prime Minister Alain Guillaume Bunyoni pointed out that this meeting is part of a general introspection, from the creation of the ONATEL Company to the present day, to see if the targeted objectives are achieved. He called on the staff of this company to change behavior by working hard to achieve the goals of responsible and hard-working Government.

The Prime Minister has made seven recommendations which must be implemented as soon as pos-law, in order to improve the financial situation of this company.

The supervisory Ministry is called upon to sensitize ONATEL's governing bodies to the development of the Action Plan in each service, including the objectives sought and the results to be achieved. Immediate removal of all unnecessary agreements with other companies, conduct a study on staff salaries and bonuses to ensure that they are performance-based and returned to whom it may concern in accordance with the law. Pay a sufficient return to the public treasury, and finally, disseminate an interim report to the Prime Minister's Office after 30 days. In her opening remarks, the Minister of Communication, Information Technologies and Media Mrs. Marie Chantal Nijimbere, returned to the history of ONATEL which dates from 1979. She specified that the latter was created under Presidential Decree N ° 100/146 with seed capital of two billion Burundian francs from the State alone.

Even if ONATEL is a company which has a commercial character as planned by the State, the observation is that the trade has experienced a considerable fall, remarked Minister Marie Chantal Nijimbere.

She said that this fall is up to the company by the fact that it did not take the lead in changing the work system when the Government granted the right to private persons to work in the telecommunications and information technology sector. It is also about the new statute of December 26, 2006 governing the staff of ONATEL which increased the staff payroll. The skills of the staff of such a commercial enterprise are not as sufficient to work to the satisfaction of the customer, continued Minister Marie Chantal Nijimbere, adding that there are also employees who do not work properly, etc.

To remedy this situation, Minister Marie Chantal Nijimbere informed that ONATEL intends to develop flagship projects such as the revitalization of the ONA-MOB network, fixed telephones as well as the dissemination of the Internet through optical fibers.

Meeting of the President of the Senate with the heads of services, the Administrators at the base, the Representatives of the Religious Confessions and the elected officials of NGOZI province

The President of the Senate, the Right Honorable Emmanuel Sinzohagera, gathered on Thursday November 19, 2020, the Heads of Services, the Administrators at the base, the Representatives of the Religious Confessions and the Hills Elected of Ngozi. This meeting, which also saw the presence of parliamentarians elected in the constituency of Ngozi, aimed to discuss the life of the province and the role of local elected officials in the new responsible and laborious Government.

The Right Honorable Emmanuel Sinzohagera first congratulated the population of Ngozi on their peaceful participation in the 2020 elections. He specified that the Senate began raids in the Communes to sensitize local officials to the reports that must characterize local elected officials and population.

In terms of security, he is pleased that it is generally good. But he asks the administrative Chiefs at the base to strengthen it given that it must be preserved each time and that it would be absurd to relax. He asked the Administrators at the base to get personally involved in combating the prohibited drinks and the theft that are observed in their respective localities.

According to the President of the Senate, the Heads of Hills who are complicit in the manufacture, consumption and marketing of these drinks should be imprisoned unconditionally. The Speaker of the Upper House of Parliament took the opportunity to warn fraudsters who squander the country's wealth to channel it to other countries.

Concerning justice, the President of the Senate regrets that this Corps currently contains people who put forward individual interests instead of making the profession a vocation. He said that the Head of State has made the issue of justice his own so that every citizen can regain confidence in this body. For this, judges and magistrates who use injustice will also be judged to correct abuses. A law on customary justice known as "Intahe yo kumugina" will soon be set up, which will settle disputes on the site of disputes.

The President of the Senate returned to the prevention of the Covid-19 pandemic. He said that the number of cases tested positive is still on the rise since the opening of Melchior Ndadaye International Airport. He then requested the involvement of all the officials present at that meeting to raise awareness among the population on measures to prevent this pandemic.

The Ambassador of Burundi in France speaks on the decision to lift the measure suspending French-speaking multilateral cooperation

In an exclusive interview he gave to TLMD Magazine (TLMD is a network of Journalists and correspondents based all over Africa, Europe and America), the Ambassador of Burundi in France HE Ernest NIYOKINDI spoke about the recent decision to lift the measure suspending French-speaking multilateral cooperation against Burundi.

The journalist from TLMD Magazine first wanted to know the origin of the sanctions that were taken by the International Organization of Francophonie (OIF). Ambassador NIYOKINDI Ernest said that 2015 was a difficult year for Burundi which had to deal with an insurgency instigated from outside, followed by an attempted coup, all aimed at overthrowing the institutions elected in 2010, by force. The management of this crisis, in particular the clashes between the putschists and the loyalists, resulted in the loss of human life and infrastructure. After having unanimously condemned the attempted coup, the international community in general and Francophonie in particular paradoxically turned to the country's institutions to blame them for the material damage and loss of human life recorded. This is how Francophonie put Burundi under observation before suspending multilateral cooperation with Burundi. What Burundi felt was unfair, said Ambassador NIYOKINDI. He continued to explain that these decisions are all more paradoxical since a very high level mission of the African Union and the Secretary General of the United Nations in person, had just visited Burundi and noted a real normalization of the situation, thus cutting short those who wanted to put the country under control by sending foreign armies to Burundi soil.

Asked how Burundi proceeded to arrive at the lifting of these sanctions, Ambassador NIYOKINDI said that as soon as multilateral cooperation was suspended on April 7, 2016, the Government of Burundi, through the Minister of External Relations and International Cooperation, protested vigorously against these measures, showing that they went against the tide and would be unproductive. He continued to explain that subsequently, the Burundi Representation to Francophonie continued to denounce their unjust nature by demonstrating that the situation was developing positively and that they should be repealed; whether at the top of Antananarivo or that of Yerevan, without forgetting the bodies that prepared them. Ambassador NIYOKINDI added that during his presentation of Letters of Accreditation to Madam the Secretary General, in their subsequent talks, he systematically brought the issue of Burundi's status within Francophone family to the table. During the 110th Session of the CPF, Ambassador NIYOKINDI made, on behalf of the Government, a statement calling for the lifting of these sanctions. He said this statement was welcomed. Out of concern for due process, the President of the CPF approached the Political Committee to prepare the resolution lifting these sanctions. Ambassador NIYOKINDI did not fail to thank all those who contributed to the lifting of these sanctions against Burundi.

Ambassador Ernest NIYOKINDI also spoke about Burundi's expectations after the lifting of these measures. He made it known that the first expectation is political; with this measure, Burundi will no longer be on the agenda of the CPF sessions, which is very important because it proves that the country is no longer on the list of "problem countries". The second expectation that Ambassador NIYOKINDI has shown is the effective resumption of cooperation.

The Ambassador of Burundi in Paris ended by indicating that with this step already made at the level of OIF, Burundi hopes the lifting of the restrictive measures also taken against it by the countries of the European Union, by not considering Burundi as a threat to international security and therefore not always put it on the agenda of the United Nations Security Council.

Burundi expects the resumption of cooperation with these different States in the dynamics of mutually respectful and beneficial relations, he reiterated.

Ruyigi: official launch of the distribution of oil palm plants

The Minister of Environment, Agriculture and Livestock, Dr Déo Guide Rurema made a descent on Tuesday, November 16, 2020 in the Municipality of Kinyinya of Ruyigi Province to officially launch the distribution of seedlings of oil palm trees. As indicated, the oil palm is among the six priority crops of the Government of Burundi.

According to the Minister in charge of Agriculture, the ambition of the so-called Responsible and Laborious Government is to increase the production of all crops so that every mouth has to eat and that every pocket also has money. This oil palm crop is a crop that is beneficial for the country because it stabilizes food security but also brings foreign currency and improves the household income of the population who practices this crop, said Doctor Deo Guide Rurema. For the Minister, he was very happy to have in Ruyigi Province, palm grove plantations are a reality. He congratulated the Palm Oil Office of Burundi (OHP) on doing everything possible to increase palm oil production like other crops. The Minister of Environment, Agriculture and Livestock reported that since 2015, agricultural production has increased. For oil palm, statistics show that in 2014, the production was around 3 and 13 thousand tons, but in 2020 the statistics show that we are at more than 26 thousand tons, which shows that production has increased, the Minister said.

Minister Dr Déo Guide RUREMA took this opportunity to appeal to the OHP to extend this type of planting in other provinces not only in the plains like Rumonge but also in Ruyigi provinces and in the provinces from Cankuzo and Kirundo.

The Government of Burundi is there to support the population to facilitate the acquisition of inputs, Minister Deo Guide Rurema said that for oil palm, this plant is produced at a value of about 12,500 Burundian francs but that it is delivered to the population at a price which is less than 4 000FBU to support the population and in this way to encourage the population to make extensions and to increase production.

He urged the population to always work in cooperatives and also appealed to natives and private individuals to come and support the burundian population in general so that agricultural production is developed.

Before the official launch of the distribution of oil palm plants, the Minister of the Environment, Agriculture and Livestock, Dr Déo Guide Rurema, in the company of OHP executives, visited the farmers of the oil palm tree working on the different hills of the Kinyinya Commune. They visited a modern field of young palm trees owned by Mr. Edmond Bigendako, farmer, multiplier and producer of palm trees on the Karindo Hill. They also visited on the same hill of Karindo, a unit for extracting palm oil of Mr. Jean Marie Manirakiza. After Karindo Hill, they went to Rugoma Hill where they visited the palm nurseries of the OHP and the Savoror company. They appreciated the use of biodegradable bags which protect the soil.
